

Eleven Times Square, 33rd Floor
New York, NY 10036
United States
+1-833-AXOVANT (1-833-296-8268)

An Open Letter from Axovant Gene Therapies to Patients, Families and Patient Advocates

March 5, 2019

On behalf of Axovant Gene Therapies, it is our privilege to share this letter providing perspectives on who we are, what motivates us, and our commitment to the many patients, families, and advocacy organizations in the GM1 Gangliosidosis, Tay-Sachs, Sandhoff, Oculopharyngeal Muscular Dystrophy (OPMD), and Parkinson's Disease communities

Who are we?

At Axovant, our mission is simple: to develop innovative gene therapies that have the potential to transform the lives of patients. Over the past year, we have built a robust pipeline of gene therapies, and we are working to ethically and urgently advance these programs into clinical development.

Our team is made up of leading scientific experts and dedicated employees who are passionate about treating life-limiting conditions and easing the burden of these life-changing disorders for both patients and caregivers. We are driven to challenge the status quo in finding more efficient and effective ways to conduct scientific and clinical evaluations that rapidly deliver impactful medicines to patients in need and are fully committed to the responsible pursuit of transformative therapies for some of the world's most difficult conditions.

Perhaps more importantly, we are made up of mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers, all of whom care deeply about the diseases that we work with and the patients we serve.

What motivates us?

Patients. Purpose. Passion.

Patients are our north-star, and you inspire us to learn as much as we can – about your journey, your experiences, and your unique needs. It is this knowledge that motivates us to work with a sense of purpose to advance science, to develop potential therapies for serious diseases, and to put you at the center of all that we do. Your plight is our passion, and we are working to channel your voice into purposeful action.

What is our commitment to you?

We know that you are counting on us to bring forward potential new treatments as quickly as possible. As a values-driven organization, Axovant is guided by a strict code of medical and business conduct and ethics, and we firmly believe that we can only do our best work if we act in a high-integrity and socially responsible manner.

Eleven Times Square, 33rd Floor
New York, NY 10036
United States
+1-833-AXOVANT (1-833-296-8268)

So, what does this mean for you?

1. Patients and families are priority and we will work as partners, at both the individual and organization level, to help ensure that collaboration between patients, healthcare professionals and Axovant enhances the well-being and quality of life of patients and their caregivers and helps their families.
2. We support ethical research and innovation and adhere to strict guidelines that maintain the integrity of scientific research and confidentiality while advancing the needs of patients.
3. We commit to timely, clear, and transparent communications between patients, families and Axovant because we understand that every day enduring these diseases is a day that matters.

We care deeply about how we partner and communicate with patients, families and patient groups around these common goals, and we encourage you to reach out directly with any questions, feedback, or topics you'd like to see us discuss by contacting us at <https://www.axovant.com/contact>.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Pavan Cheruvu". The signature is fluid and cursive, written on a light-colored background.

Pavan Cheruvu, MD, MSc
Chief Executive Officer
Axovant Sciences, Inc.